The Asian Journal of Applied Education (AJAE) is a peer-reviewed academic journal published by Formosa Publisher, focusing on innovative and interdisciplinary approaches in education. It features articles covering diverse research methods and theoretical frameworks that address contemporary educational issues. AJAE aims to be a resource for educators, researchers, and policymakers by offering insightful perspectives and encouraging debate on educational practices and theory.

AJAE publishes quarterly, with issues in January, April, July, and October. Its broad scope appeals to a wide audience within the education community, and it invites research that stimulates discussion on educational transformation in various cultural and practical contexts. By presenting a blend of both theoretical and applied educational research, AJAE strives to advance knowledge in the educational field across Asia and beyond.

For more information or to access recent articles, you can visit AJAE's official listing on research journal platforms such as ResearchBib and Scilit

Sincerely,

Nia D Simanjuntak S. Pd
